4	(4) 2014 Te Whau The Point, Waiheke (4) 2014 Te Whau The Point, Waiheke (STOL) RC18.5+/20Full, even near impenetrable black-red colour, a little lighter on the edge with some garnet hues. The bouquet has powerful and concentrated aromas of fresh blackcurrants and cassis with fresh and dark herbs, along with distinctive mint elements, unfolding nuances of black plums and subtle, cedary oak. This is quite primary and refreshing and shows strong Cabernet Sauvignon fruit with a cool edge. Medium-full bodied, the palate has powerful and intense flavours of blackcurrants, cassis liqueur and up-front fresh mint herbs with a touch of menthol. The fruit intensity is striking and forms a concentrated core. The fruit is underlined by plenty of fine-grained structure and grip, and the mouthfeel is enlivened by fresh acidity. This has excellent linearity, and the wine carries to a very long, lingering finish. This is a powerful and intensely concentrated Cabernet/Merlot blend with bold blackcurrant, cassis and herbal flavours with plenty of fine structure and fresh acidity. May 2018 Raymond Chan Wine ReviewsPurpose built, temperature controlled cellar Est. 80 - 100

6	(3) 2018 LVCA Ludwig Vanneron Le Galant, Hawkes Bay (3) 2018 LVCA Ludwig Vanneron Le Galant, Hawkes Bay * CD96Classic and powerful bouquet with concentration of colour and bouquet, complexity and intrigue. Aromas of blackberry and marmite, roasted plums and boot polish, cassis and sweet violets, very toasty barrel and spices to match. Complex, youthful, powerful. On the palate - sweet ripe dark berry fruit flavours hit the palate first, tannins and acidity layer in next with fine through moderate chalky textures. The core of the wine remains the dark berry fruits then oak. Spicy, tense, youthful, lengthy. A wine that will age well for some years and reward every step of the way. Best drinking from 2025 through 2035+. Decant for service. Aug 2021 Cameron Douglas MS Est. 160 - 200
7	(3) 2015 Stonecroft Cabernet Sauvignon, Gimblett Gravels (3) 2015 Stonecroft Cabernet Sauvignon, Gimblett Gravels RC19+/20Full, even, black-hued purple-red, near impenetrable. The nose is elegant and tightly concentrated with intense and penetrating aromas of pure blackcurrant fruit and cassis liqueur, entwined with exotic and piquant dark herbs. This has great class and is quite classical in varietal expression. Medium-full bodied, the palate has concentration, power and drive, showing great richness of pure blackcurrant and cassis flavours, with aromatic herbal nuance. The intensity and depth of rich fruit is stunning, and it is supported by fine-grained tannin extraction and structure providing wonderful linearity. The mouthfeel has freshness and vitality, and plenty of acid drive, and the wine carries to a long and lingering finish of sweet blackcurrants. This is a powerfully concentrated and intensely driven Cabernet Sauvignon with a deep core of blackcurrants and cassis, with balancing tannin structure and freshness on the palate. This is a 10-15 year wine. 100% Cabernet Sauvignon indigenous yeast fermented to 13.5% alc., the wine aged 18 months in 15% new French oak barriques. 200 cases made. 19.0+/20 Sep 2017 Raymond Chan Wine ReviewsPurpose built, temperature controlled cellar Est. 50 - 60
8	(2) 2019 Paritua The Platinum Collection Cabernet Sauvignon, Hawkes Bay (2) 2019 Paritua The Platinum Collection Cabernet Sauvignon, Hawkes BayRP94 A blend of 52% Cabernet Sauvignon, 31% Merlot and 17% Cabernet Franc, Paritua's 2015 21*12 is a big, dark, oak-drenched beast, loaded with scents of vanilla, cedar and cassis on the nose. On the full-bodied palate, it's plush and rich, coating the mouth with velvety tannins and then adding little nuances of tea leaves and chocolate-covered cherries on the lingering finish. It's about as flashy and fleshy as they come in Hawke's Bay, a bit of New World excess for those (like me) who appreciate that sort of thing. 10	(2) 2014 Paritua 21-12 Twenty-One Twelve, Hawkes Bay (2) 2014 Paritua 21-12 Twenty-One Twelve, Hawkes BayRC19.5/20Note labelVery full, dark, black-red colour with garnet hues, near impenetrable, a little lighter on the rim. The nose is aromatic with deep and concentrated, very ripe, blackcurrant, blackberry and black plum fruit, This is vibrant and fresh, and enhanced by spicy, pencilly and cedary oak. Notes of olives, dark herbs and cassis unfold to provide layers of detail. Full-bodied, the palate is rich, sweet and succulent with vibrant flavours of ripe blackcurrants with cassis liqueur, blackberries and black plums, along with a layering of exotic, spicy, cedary oak. The flavours are densely packed and concentrated. The mouthfeel has great vitality and the fruit is supported by very fine-grained tannin structure, with balanced acid energy. The flavours carry to a very long, rich and sustained finish. This is an impressively vibrant and densely packed Cabernet/Merlot blend with sweetly rich and succulently ripe blackcurrant and plum fruit with exotic oak and a fine structured palate. 19.5/20 Aug 2018 Raymond Chan Wine ReviewsPurpose built, temperature controlled cellar Est. 150 - 180
11	(2) 2013 Paritua 21-12 Twenty-One Twelve, Hawkes Bay (2) 2013 Paritua 21-12 Twenty-One Twelve, Hawkes BayRC19/20Note labelImpenetrable black-red colour with purple hues, youthful in appearance. The nose is rich with near opulently ripe, firm and deeply concentrated aromas of blackberry and blackcurrant fruit with black plums and spicy, pencilly oak. This has density with finesse and youthful vitality. Full-bodied, the palate possesses very rich and vibrant , lusciously ripe fruit flavours of blackberries entwined with soft notes of blackcurrants and black plums with nuances of cassis liqueur, The fruit is vigorous and near robust, and enlivened by fresh acidity, and supported by considerable fine-grained tannin extraction and structure. This has great drive and power with some alcohol warmth just noticeable. The palate has textural balance, the fruit prevailing, carrying with great energy to a rich, long, sustained finish of sweetly ripe black fruits and exotic oak. This is a rich, ripe, fulsome and vigorous Cabernet Sauvignon blend with sweet black fruit of a fully structured palate with underlying power, that retains a degree of finesse. 19.0/20 Jul 2017 Raymond Chan Wine ReviewsPurpose built, temperature controlled cellar Est. 150 - 180
12	(2) 2010 Destiny Bay Mystae, Waiheke (2) 2010 Destiny Bay Mystae, Waiheke RP93A blend of 64% Cabernet Sauvignon, 21% Merlot, 6% Cabernet Franc, 5% Malbec and 4% Petit Verdot, the 2010 Mystae is a little mute showing some red currant jelly and black cherry preserves aromas with hints of Chinese five spice and pencil shavings. Medium to full-bodied with tons of red and black fruits flavors, it has firm, ripe, grainy tannins and a long layered finish. 665 cases were produced. Jan 2015 Robert Parker.comPurpose built, temperature controlled cellar Est. 260 - 320
13	(1) 2015 Destiny Bay Mystae, Waiheke (1) 2015 Destiny Bay Mystae, Waiheke RP93The 2015 Mystae is a blend of 48% Cabernet Sauvignon, 30% Merlot, 11% Cabernet Franc, 7% Malbec and 4% Petit Verdot, raised in 40% new oak and 60% second use barrels (both French and American). It's cedary on the nose, with menthol accents to the cassis fruit, while on the palate, it's full-bodied and creamy. Hints of licorice and violets add nuance on the long, plush finish. There's plenty of concentration here, with yields held under two tons per acre. Mar 2019 Robert Parker.comPurpose built, temperature controlled cellar Est. 260 - 320
14	(1) 2012 Destiny Bay Mystae, Waiheke (1) 2012 Destiny Bay Mystae, Waiheke RP91A blend of 47% Cabernet Sauvignon, 33% Merlot, 9% Cabernet Franc, 6% Malbec and 5% Petit Verdot, the 2012 Mystae has a deep garnet-purple color and is a little closed with notes of cassis, blackberries and black cherries plus nuances of dusty earth and cigar boxes. Medium bodied with just enough youthful fruit expression framed by firm grainy tannins and refreshing acidity, it finishes long. 500 cases were produced. Jan 2015 Robert Parker.comPurpose built, temperature controlled cellar Est. 260 - 320
15	(2) 2010 Destiny Bay Magna Praemia, Waiheke (2) 2010 Destiny Bay Magna Praemia, Waiheke RP94+The 2010 Magna Praemia is a blend of 75% Cabernet Sauvignon, 14% Merlot, 4% Cabernet Franc, 4% Petit Verdot and 3% Malbec. Sporting a medium garnet color, the oak is still apparent on the nose with underlying chocolate box and violets over good core of crème de cassis, warm plums and dried herbs. Medium to full-bodied and very structured on the palate, this very youthful wine is one for the long-haul, with beautifully ripe, firm tannins, a refreshing acid backbone and a finish of excellent length. 317 cases were produced. 16	(1) 2009 Destiny Bay Magna Praemia, Waiheke (1) 2009 Destiny Bay Magna Praemia, Waiheke RP91-93Note LabelTasted from barrel, the 2009 Magna Praemia has a crisp, well-defined, slightly meaty, Saint-Emilion-esque bouquet. The palate is medium-bodied well balanced with fine tannins, quite linear at the moment and just missing the peacock's tail demonstrated by the Destinae. There is an attractive clarity and sense of naturalness here and it will come into its own in 2-3 years time. Oct 2010 Robert Parker.comPurpose built, temperature controlled cellar Est. 400 - 500
17	(2) 2009 Destiny Bay Destinae, Waiheke (2) 2009 Destiny Bay Destinae, WaihekeTasted from barrel, the 2009 Destinae has a compact, dark cherry bouquet with a light earthy undertow. It demonstrates fine definition but is introverted at the moment. The palate is medium-bodied, well balanced with good acidity, supple blueberry tinged fruit and a bewitching silky finish that promises great clarity once bottled. 19	(2) 2016 Te Mata Estate Awatea, Hawkes Bay (2) 2016 Te Mata Estate Awatea, Hawkes Bay RC18/20Deepish ruby-red colour with a dark heart, lighter on the rim. The nose is elegant and a little slender in presentation with piquant and fragrant aromatics showing dark-red berry and redcurrant fruit with entwined with subtle herbal notes, unfolding nuances of stalk and stem, with dark-red floral perfumes, and a suggestion of minerals. Herb and plum notes emerge in the glass. Medium-bodied, the palate is elegant and taut with fine concentration of blackberry, blackcurrant and redcurrant fruit, along with hints of leaf and red florals. The fruit is up-front with some sweetness and underlined by fine-grained tannin extraction and fresh, edgy acidity. This has good linearity, and carries to a fragrant red-fruited finish. This will keep 6-8 years. Hand-picked fruit, a blend of 45% Cabernet Sauvignon, 41% Merlot and 14% Cabernet Franc, fermented to 13.5% alc., the wine aged 16 months in 35% new French oak barrels. The bouquet has powerful and concentrated aromas of fresh blackcurrants and cassis with fresh and dark herbs, along with distinctive mint elements, unfolding nuances of black plums and subtle, cedary oak. This is quite primary and refreshing and shows strong Cabernet Sauvignon fruit with a cool edge. Medium-full bodied, the palate has powerful and intense flavours of blackcurrants, cassis liqueur and up-front fresh mint herbs with a touch of menthol. The fruit intensity is striking and forms a concentrated core. The fruit is underlined by plenty of fine-grained structure and grip, and the mouthfeel is enlivened by fresh acidity. This has excellent linearity, and the wine carries to a very long, lingering finish. This is a powerful and intensely concentrated Cabernet/Merlot blend with bold blackcurrant, cassis and herbal flavours with plenty of fine structure and fresh acidity. 18.5+/20 May 2018 Raymond Chan Wine ReviewsPurpose built, temperature controlled cellar Est. 80 - 100

22	(1) 1989 Te Mata Estate Coleraine, Hawkes Bay (1) 1989 Te Mata Estate Coleraine, Hawkes Bay (UTS) (STOL) RC18-/20Even garnet-red colour, with some paleness, showing a little bricking. The nose is fine in proportion, still with a firm core, showing cooler-spectrum curranty fruit aromas along with herbs, a touch of eucalypt and cedar. The bouquet has depth and penetration. An elegant wine on palate, with accessibility, the fruit still sweet and lively, the cooler herbal notes lending freshness. The acidity adds to the energy, and the fruit is underlined by light, refined, tannin extraction and grip that allows the fruit to prevail. There is some secondary complexing earthy detail adding interest. This is still balanced and attractive, but deserves consuming soon. It will not fall over suddenly. 51% CS, 40% Me, 9% CF. 12.5% alc.18.0-/20 Aug 2017 Raymond Chan Wine ReviewsPurpose built, underground cellar. Est. 120 - 180

24	(2) 2009 Church Road Tom, Hawkes Bay (2)2009 Church Road Tom, Hawkes Bay RC19+/2058% Cabernet Sauvignon and 42% Merlot from the Gimblett Gravels, fermented to 14.0% alc., the wine spending 4-5 weeks on skins, then aged 21 months in 81% new French oak barriques. Very dark, deep, black-hued ruby-red colour with some youthful purple hues. The bouquet is solidly packed, near robust and dense with great presence. Aromas of raw, primary black berry, currant, dark herb and mineral aromas abound. This is youthfully brackish, but fragrant lift adds some fineness. Full-bodied, concentrated, ripe black fruits are the highlight on palate. The Cabernet Sauvignon varietal characters are clear, with size and fill the mouth, but the density and power provide great drive. The extraction is considerable, framing the fruit, and the tannins very fine-grained. Mineral, tar notes and black herb elements along with black floral hints become revealed, the oaking quite unobtrusive. The mouthfeel bristles with energy from the acidity, and carries the palate to a very long, sustained finish. This Cabernet Sauvignon based blend has great depth and concentration with the rawness of youth. The fine-grained and serious structure will see it age 15+ years. 450 cases made. 19.0+/20 May 2013 Raymond Chan Wine ReviewsPurpose built, underground cellar. Est. 150 - 220
25	(1) 1998 Church Road Tom, Hawkes Bay (1) 1998 Church Road Tom, Hawkes Bay (GB) RC18.5/20Very dark, black-red colour with a slightly lighter rim. This has a very deep and powerful bouquet of savoury black-berried fruits along with complex secondary and tertiary earth, mineral and leathery notes. This has power, size and robustness. Full-bodied, the palate features bold and mouthfilling flavours of savoury black berried fruits melded with layers of savoury dark and dried herbs, earth and leather. The fruit has underlying sweetness and lusciousness showing ripeness and warmth, and is supported by considerable extraction and structure, with acid energy providing liveliness. The wine is firm, robust and rugged, but has a degree of accessibility, and will continue to develop over the next 8-10 years. 51% Merlot, 28% Cabernet Sauvignon and 22% Cabernet Franc, fruit from a variety of vineyards, none in the Gimblett Gravels or the Bridge Pa Triangle, the wine aged 18 months in French oak. 18.5+/20 May 2016 Raymond Chan Wine ReviewsStored in a cool, dark place Est. 180 - 240
26	(1) 2000 Te Mata Estate Coleraine, Hawkes Bay (1) 2000 Te Mata Estate Coleraine, Hawkes Bay (IN) RP91Medium to dark ruby-colored, the highly impressive, concentrated 2000 Cabernet – Merlot Coleraine reveals aromas of candied blackberries, lead pencil, mocha, and juniper berries. A muscular, licorice and tar-laced medium to full-bodied wine, it is big, bold, and flavorful. Its formidably long finish reveals additional layers of fruit as well as copious quantities of ripe tannin. 10/03 Robert Parker.com Stored in a cool, dark place. Est. 120 - 180
27	(1) 2005 Te Mata Estate Coleraine, Hawkes Bay (1) 2005 Te Mata Estate Coleraine, Hawkes Bay * RC18.5+/20Dark, deep, black-hued ruby-red colour, a little lighter on the edge. The nose is soft, full and harmoniously packed with dense, ripe aromas of blackberries and black plums, and layers of herbs, currants and a little earthy, secondary detail. This retains freshness and life in the aromatics. The palate is fulsome, with ripe, fleshy fruit flavours of ripe black berry, plum and curranty notes, encased by grainy, near sinewy tannins and structure. This still needs time to come together. The rich fruit has plenty of life and is a little brooding, but will blossom. The ripeness level and the structure will see it unfold over the next 15 years. 52% CS, 43% Me, 5% CF. 14.0% alc. 18.5+/20 Aug 2017 Raymond Chan Wine ReviewsProfessionally stored in a temperature and humidity controlled environment Est. 120 - 200

39	(1) 1989 Ata Rangi Pinot Noir, Martinborough (1) 1989 Ata Rangi Pinot Noir, Martinborough(3.2cm) (TOL) RC17.5-/20A warmer year with drought conditions. Two bottlings, the regular label for 'Barrel Shareholders', who participated in an 'en primeur' scheme, and the 'Reserve', held in oak for longer. The year that Clive and Phyll were married. Deep brick-red colour with some depth. Still fresh in appearance. The bouquet is delicate and fragrant, lifted a little by VA, but developing density with red berry fruit intertwined with red florals, dried herbs and a hint of mushrooms. Full-bodied and rich with fruit concentration and density. There is structure, extract and grip, but harmoniously matched to the fruit. The flavours are a little unyielding, and follow through to a tight, shy finish, the mouthfeel becoming drier. I've seen better than this bottle, which may be less than ideal. Other tasters more positive. 17.5-/20 Jul 2014 Raymond Chan Wine ReviewsStored in a cool, dark place Est. 25 - 45

It's full-bodied and rich without seeming heavy at all, the ripeness balanced by fresh notes of herbs and soft tannins. No doubt some purists will quibble with the level of ripeness (it's labeled at 14.5% alcohol), but to my mind, there is no arguing with the hedonistic pleasure ride this wine delivers. And while it's approachable now, the tannins that appear on the finish suggest at least a decade of positive evolution ahead. 44	(1) 2016 Greystone Thomas Brothers Pinot Noir, Waipara (1) 2016 Greystone Thomas Brothers Pinot Noir, Waipara (SC) RP92The 2016 Thomas Brothers' Pinot Noir is unabashedly ripe and rich, with a heady 14.5% alcohol reading and plenty of plummy, black cherry fruit. There's new oak as well, hinting at cedar and vanilla, and maybe even some cola notes in this full-bodied Pinot Noir. It has more in common with many California (think Russian River Valley) Pinots than most of its brethren from New Zealand, but it offers a fun, hedonistic experience, loaded with velvety goodness. 51	(2) 2017 Dry River Pinot Noir, Martinborough (2) 2017 Dry River Pinot Noir, MartinboroughRP93The striking thing about Dry River's 2017 Pinot Noir is its rose-blossom perfume, which seems to persist even on the palate and through the lengthy finish. Yes, there are barely-ripe cherries, a silky, medium-bodied feel on the palate and subtle hints of mocha and spice, but the overwhelming impression is one of floral elegance. While some vintages of this wine need time in the cellar, this is immediately approachable, yet it should drink well for up to decade. This has a very full, soft, near-ethereal nose of savoury dark red berry fruits with suggestions of red-brown fruits along with earthy and dried herb layers harmoniously interwoven with subtle whole bunch stalk nuances. This is well-packed and blossoms with ease. Medium-full bodied, the palate features soft and fulsome flavours of rich and succulent savoury red berry fruits unfolding layers of earth and sweet cedar, dried herbs and nuances of whole bunch stalk hints. The mouthfeel is very harmonious and balanced with supple and fine-grained tannin structure supporting the sweet fruit. Soft acidity adds to the richness and rounded mouthfeel. The wine flows smoothly to a soft, long, blossoming finish of sweet red fruits and savoury complexities. The precocious Craggy Range has rapidly become one of New Zealand's premier wine producers. Established in 1997, it is the collaboration between businessman Terry Peabody and the winemaking expertise of quiet, retiring Steve Smith MW, who concentrates upon the Bordeaux-blend "Sophia" and the Sauvignon Blanc. Smith has employed the skills of Rob Easthope to focus upon Chardonnay and Syrah and Adrian Baker on Pinot Noir, Riesling and Sauvignon Blanc. The state-of-the-art winery is modeled on futuristic architecture and is over-shadowed by the peaks that give rise to their name. The philosophy is firmly directed towards small production of single vineyard sites a la Burgundy. They purchased their own vineyard in the Te Muna sub-region of Martinborough where Sauvignon Blanc and Pinot Noir are cultivated, whilst fruit from the South Island is out-sourced. Their two flagship wines of "Sophia," a Bordeaux blend and "Le Sol," which is 100% Syrah. Blended of 56% Coonawarra Cabernet from Block 20 and 44% Barossa Shiraz from Koonunga Hill Block 56G and Kalimna Blocks 4 and 14, the wine was matured in 100% new American oak hogsheads for 13 months. Very deep purple-black in color, it offers restrained notes of game, smoked meat, earth, blackberry and black currant liqueurs, yeast, marmite-toast plus whiffs of dried lavender, cedar and bark. Very crisp, very tight and very firm, this taut medium-bodied wine is still all structure at this stage, going very long and earthy in the finish. Give it time and consider broaching it from 2014. 77	(1) 2004 Penfolds Block 42 Kalimna Cabernet Sauvignon, Barossa SA (1) 2004 Penfolds Block 42 Kalimna Cabernet Sauvignon, Barossa SA (GB)RP97It's not known exactly when the Kalimna Block 42 was planted but there are suggestions that the vines existed during the latter part of the 19th Century. They could be the oldest Cabernet vines in the world, although the famous Metala Cabernet vineyard in Langhorne Creek was known to have been planted in 1891 so could very well pre-date Kalimna. Regardless, I've been there and the vines are truly old. Only very rarely does Penfolds release this as a single vineyard wine, when the Cabernet is so fabulous it can't possibly be blended. The 2004 Block 42 Kalimna Cabernet Sauvignon was such a vintage. Matured in 100% new American hogsheads for 13 months, it displays a very deep garnet-purple color and profoundly earthy / gamey aromas over black cherry preserves, creme de cassis plus scents of leather, pencil shavings, Mediterranean herbs, black truffles, underbrush and black olives. The elegant, medium-bodied palate is tightly-knit and led by structure with a high level of grainy tannins, very high acid and a long earthy finish. The 2006 St. Henri Shiraz is a blend of 89% Shiraz and 11% Cabernet. It has an intriguing bouquet that is cut from a different cloth to the previous two vintages. It is more floral and feminine, with dried rose petals, vanilla, liquorice and wild strawberry. The palate is silky smooth and sensual on the entry, indeed, this is a St. Henri that sets out to caress and seduce. There is a cheeky tang of salted liquorice on the finish and grippy dry tannins dominating the finish. Still, the 2005 is surprisingly round and harmonious for a young vintage of Biondi-Santi, in fact, I had a hard time putting the glass down! Though medium in body, the wine offers gorgeous persistence and a long, exceptionally pure finish. I expect the 2005 Brunello to shut down in bottle, but readers who have an opportunity to taste the wine should not hesitate. Biondi-Santi did not produce a Riserva in 2005; instead the best of the fruit that is normally destined for the Riserva plus a selection of old vines near the heart of the estate were used for the 2005 Brunello. This is one of the unqualified successes of the vintage. I was deeply impressed with the wines I tasted from Biondi-Santi this year. Of course, Biondi-Santi is the estate that put Brunello di Montalcino on the map, so it is nice to see this historic property doing so well. These remain some of the most rigorous, age-worthy Brunellos readers will come across. Traditional vinification and aging in large, neutral casks are the rule. Ideally the wines are best left in the cellar for at least a decade after release, but readers will have a very hard time exercising such restraint here. These are magnificent Brunellos.Purpose built, underground cellar. Est. 250 - 320
104	(1) 2015 Il Poggione Vigna Paganelli Riserva Brunello di Montalcino, Tuscany (1) 2015 Il Poggione Vigna Paganelli Riserva Brunello di Montalcino, Tuscany * RP97This single-vineyard Riserva delivers a generous, abundant and determined personality. This is Brunello with a capital B. The 2015 Brunello di Montalcino Riserva Vigna Paganelli benefits from a warm and sun-soaked microclimate that is shielded from cold winter winds. You can taste the good health of the grapes thanks to those very direct aromas of black cherry, plum, tar, campfire ash and chalky mineral. The Paganelli vineyard is 12 hectares in size, with vines planted in 1964. The last time this wine was made was in 2012. Fruit from those old vines shape complex aromas, elegant tannins and bright freshness. Despite that handsome DNA, this is another new release from Il Poggione that will require more cellar age. I'd suggest drinking a bottle from this 40,000-bottle release after the 10-year mark. 105	(1) 2014 Aalto PS Pagos Seleccionados, Ribera del Duero (1) 2014 Aalto PS Pagos Seleccionados, Ribera del Duero RP94The 2014 PS aged in new oak barrels for a little bit shorter than in the past, some 18 months now. It's pure Tempranillo from selected plots of old, head-pruned vines. It's very obviously young and very oaky, not yet ready and in need of some time in bottle to be able to integrate all the oak that it currently shows. The nose is very smoky, with plenty of sweet spices, hints of smoked bacon and cereals of roasted corn. The palate is full-bodied and concentrated, with pungent oak-related flavors and a dusty texture with abundant tannins. It needs a couple of years in bottle in the classical PS style, a powerful wine destined to be consumed with powerful food and ideal for a winter stew. Very good in its style. 30,000 bottles produced. It was bottled in June 2016. Mar 2017 Robert Parker.comPurpose built, temperature-controlled cellar. Est. 200 - 250

107	(1) 2015 Vega Sicilia Alion, Ribera del Duero (1) 2015 Vega Sicilia Alion, Ribera del Duero * RP93+Produced with 100% Tinto Fino or Tempranillo grapes in a modern and fruit-forward style with generous oak, the 2015 Alion is juicy and intense, cropped from a warm and dry year that delivered a 15% alcohol red that is voluptuous and hedonistic. It matured for 12 to 14 months in oak barrels, mostly French and mostly new. At first I found it quite ripe, with black rather than red fruit, a little earthy and with a touch of licorice and ink. The palate reveals abundant, slightly dusty tannins without the quality they had in 2014; it's a little dry on the finish, a riper and more powerful vintage of Alion. The nose improved tremendously with time in the glass as it opened up, but the tannins remained quite present. It might need a little more time in bottle to polish those edges. 230,730 bottles and some larger formats where produced. It was bottled in June 2017. This is staggering wine and as profound as most of the single vineyard Cote Roties are in some other vintages. The wine has a deep ruby/purple color and an extraordinary nose of smoky bacon fat and roasted meats, tapenade, black raspberry, cherry, and cassis. The intense aromatics are followed by equally thick, unctuous flavors with huge body, a voluptuous texture, and yet wonderful freshness, purity, and length. This is an amazing wine made from a remarkable blend of some of the best parcels in Cote Rotie – La Garde, La Clos, Grande Plantee, Pommier, Pavillon Rouge, and Le Moulin. The exceptionally rich and round medium weight plus flavors possess a succulent mouth feel with fine concentration as well as plenty of dry extract that coats the palate on the beautifully long finish that is well-balanced though mildly austere at present. There is a copious amount of earth influence to the rich, supple and big-bodied flavors that are a lovely mix of power and muscle on the mineral-inflected and explosively long finish. Jadot's reds almost always seem to successfully eat their wood and thus my range offers the benefit of the doubt to this wine because of the superb underlying material though I underscore that it may require a few years before it does so. There is good volume and richness to the caressing and seductively textured medium-bodied flavors that possess very good if not truly exceptional depth before concluding in a dry, clean and focused finish. 176	(1) 1986 Chateau Margaux 1er Cru Classe, Margaux (1) 1986 Chateau Margaux 1er Cru Classe, Margaux(IN) (CC) RP98A magnificent example of Chateau Margaux and one of the most tannic, backward Margaux of the last 50 years, the 1986 continues to evolve at a glacial pace. The color is still a dense ruby/purple with just a hint of lightening at the rim. With several hours of aeration, the aromatics become striking, with notes of smoke, toast, creme de cassis, mineral, and white flowers. Very full-bodied, with high but sweet tannin, great purity, and a very masculine, full-bodied style, this wine should prove nearly immortal in terms of its aging potential. It is beginning to budge from its infantile stage and approach adolescence. Anticipated maturity: 2008-2050. Last tasted, Dec 2002. Robert Parker.com Stored in a cool, dark place Est. 900 - 1,300

183	(6) 2009 Chateau Haut Bergey, Pessac Leognan (6) 2009 Chateau Haut Bergey, Pessac Leognan (IN) RP94A blend of just over 50% Cabernet Sauvignon and the balance Merlot (last year I mistakenly wrote that the balance was Cabernet Franc), the opaque ruby/purple-colored 2009 reveals notes of scorched earth/burning embers/charcoal, black currants, ripe cherries and lead pencil shavings. Full-bodied and pure with sweet tannin, this is an under-the-radar, high quality claret to drink over the next 20-25 years. As powerful and rich as the 2000 and 2010, Haut-Bergey's 2009 is another of the over-achieving, value-priced Bordeaux that are increasingly difficult to find. The estate, which is owned by Helene Garcin (who also owns Clos l'Eglise and Barde-Haut, and makes the cult wine, Branon, from a vineyard adjacent to Haut-Bergey), is situated near Malartic Lagraviere and Domaine de Chevalier.Dec 2011 Robert Parker.comPurpose built, temperature-controlled cellar. 184	(3) 2010 Chateau Tour St Bonnet, Medoc (3) 2010Chateau Tour St Bonnet, Medoc RP90A beautiful sleeper of the vintage, this is possibly the best wine I've ever tasted from this over-achieving estate near St.-Christoly-de-Medoc. A blend of 45% Merlot, 45% Cabernet Sauvignon and the rest Petit Verdot, this wine normally sells for about $15 a bottle, making it an absolutely staggering value in the worldwide marketplace. The 2010 exhibits classic cedar wood, tobacco leaf, creme de cassis, licorice and some balsam wood notes in a strong, medium to full-bodied, layered style with good opulence, purity and overall harmony. A real beauty, it should be drunk over the next 4-5 years. Feb 2013 Robert Parker.comPurpose built, temperature-controlled cellar. Est. 40 - 50
185	(2) 2008 Vieux Chateau Certan, Pomerol (2) 2008 Vieux Chateau Certan, PomerolRP93This is a beautiful wine, much more developed and evolved than the 2010, as one might expect, with perfumed notes of camphor, cedar, charcoal, herbs, and black and red fruits. A blend of 70% of Merlot, 20% Cabernet Franc and the rest Cabernet Sauvignon, the wine has very complex aromatics, medium to full body, outstanding ripeness, a spicy, perfumed character, and light to moderate tannin. It can benefit from 2-4 years of cellaring and should keep for two decades. May 2011 Robert Parker.comPurpose built, underground cellar. Est. 300 - 380

Do not ignore this little gem! The nose is quite forward with lime flower, a touch of fresh pear and citrus lemon. Good definition with granite aromas emerge. 189	(2) 2008 Chateau Gazin 375ml, Pomerol (2) 2008Chateau Gazin 375ml, PomerolRP94Gazin's 2008, a structured, masculine style of Pomerol, reveals a dense plum/purple color in addition to a gorgeous perfume of licorice, mocha, black currants, plums and Asian spices. Firm, dense and full-bodied with stunning concentration, it represents a hypothetical blend of its two near-by neighbors, Lafleur and Petrus. Congratulations to Gazin on another fabulous effort that still seems to be under most consumers' radar. The 2008 should drink well for 20-25 years. 191	(3) 2009 Chateau Lanessan 375ml, Haut Medoc (3) 2009 Chateau Lanessan 375ml, Haut Medoc Served blind at the Southwold 2009 tasting. The Lanessan '09 has a simple but clean fruit bouquet with blackberry, cedar and a touch of tar, hints of espresso developing in the glass. The palate is medium-bodied with firm tannins. Fresh and lively in the mouth, not complicated but showing good length on the finish - perhaps I was expecting just a little more given its promising showing from barrel. Still, I think this will improve in bottle. Tasted January 2013. Robert Parker.comPurpose built, underground cellar. Est. 40 - 50
192	(1) 2008 Chateau Mouton Rothschild 1er Cru Classe, Pauillac (1) 2008 Chateau Mouton Rothschild 1er Cru Classe, PauillacRP95Tasted at the Mouton-Rothschild vertical in London, the 2008 Mouton Rothschild has always been in the shadow of the ensuing couple of vintages, but I was not the only person at this tasting that commented upon the class in show here. It replicated previous showings: cedar and graphite present and correct, though accompanied by something a little more exotic - eucalyptus maybe? The palate is beautifully balanced, very detailed and extremely fresh. This conveys so much energy and animation before reverting towards a more classic and structured, pencil lead finish. Those in the know will stash up on the 2008 Mouton Rothschild because it is destined to turn into one of the "dark horses" of the decade. Tasted May 2016. 193	(2) 2007 Chateau Leoville Poyferre 2eme Cru Classe, St Julien (2) 2007 Chateau Leoville Poyferre 2eme Cru Classe, St Julien RP91Tasted at BI Wine & Spirits' 10-Years-On tasting, the 2007 Leoville-Poyferre has a tightly wound bouquet at first, although it unfurls to reveal attractive cedar and undergrowth-tinged black fruit, dried blood and cured meat aromas. The palate is medium-bodied with a grainy texture, a fine thread of acidity and a grippy, almost Pauillac-like, graphite finish that lends body and focus. This showing at ten years suggests that, after differing performances in its youth, this Saint Julien has settled into a groove; in fact, I envisage it maturing with style over the next 15-20 years. 195	(1) 2009 Chateau Giscours 3eme Cru Classe, Margaux (1) 2009 Chateau Giscours 3eme Cru Classe, Margaux * RP93Tasted at the Château Giscours vertical, the 2009 Château Giscours is a blend of 53% Cabernet Sauvignon, 40% Merlot and 7% Petit Verdot picked between September 22 and October 13. Deep garnet in color, it has a sumptuous bouquet with blackberry, saddle leather, forest floor and even just a faint touch of juniper berries. The palate is medium-bodied with fine, lightly grained tannin. This is a very harmonious Giscours with cedar and a pinch of black pepper sprinkled over the black fruit. It is certainly well proportioned with one of the more "masculine" finishes for the vintage. Showing better than when I tasted it blind a couple of years ago, this is an excellent Margaux that should drink earlier than the succeeding vintage. Tasted June 2015. 198	(1) 1994 Argyros Vin Santo 20 Year Old, Santorini Greece (1) 1994 Argyros Vin Santo 20 Year Old, Santorini Greece * RP98The 1994 Vinsanto 20 Years Barrel Aged, bottled in late December 2014, is the typical blend here of 80% Assyrtiko and 10% each of Aidani and Athiri, aged for 240 months in used French oak. It comes in with 250 grams of residual sugar, 7.7 grams of total acidity and 13.5% alcohol. It was also held back in bottle for two years before release. Sourced from very old vines, this seems dry yet rich, powerful and very concentrated. It didn't show its best for 24 hours, initially seeming just a bit duller compared to the 1993 but winning in the end. In the end, it is richer and more unctuous. As with all of them, it ends with a tannic-like grip on the finish, some molasses and caramelized sugar. Intense, dense and gripping, this is pretty special. 199	(1) 2002 Argyros Vin Santo 12 Year Old, Santorini Greece (1) 2002 Argyros Vin Santo 12 Year Old, Santorini Greece * RP97The 2002 Vinsanto 12 Years Barrel Aged is the traditional blend (80% Assyrtiko, 10% each of Athiri and Aidani), aged in used French oak for 144 months. It comes in at 248 grams of residual sugar and 13.5% alcohol. Sourced from the winery's oldest parcels, this is another fine 12-year-old from the winery. It seemed lush and a little flabby on the first day tasted, relatively speaking, but the next day, its power came out. Initially, I preferred the 2000. On the second day tasted, this seemed better. Simply gripping, it is a Vinsanto that refuses to let go of your palate. The contrast here with the 2000 is notable—this is denser, showing more caramelized sugar and crème brûlée. It leans a bit more to darker flavors like molasses. On the other hand, it's not quite as fresh and as elegant as the 2000. Plus, this 2002 has more pure power. (That was especially clear the next day.) If I tasted this blind, I might've guessed it was a 20, not a 12, as it seems a bit further along. Right now, this is pretty special. I do sort of wonder what that "further along" quality might mean for the future, but it will still age effortlessly for a couple of decades or more. 216	(4) 2013 Babich The Patriarch, Hawkes Bay (4) 2013 Babich The Patriarch, Hawkes Bay RC19+/20 A blend of 49% Cabernet Sauvignon, 27% Malbec and 24% Merlot from the 'Irongate' vineyard. Very dark, deep, near saturated black-red colour, youthful in appearance. The bouquet is powerful, intense and very rich with ripe aromas of blackberries, black plums, notes of boysenberries and cassis liqueur, unfolding exotic, spicy oak. The Cabernet Sauvignon is a little more assertive on palate, with rich cassis flavours supported by the blackberry and plum fruit. This has sweetness an opulence and the fruit is supported by beautifully refined tannin structure providing great linearity. The concentrated flavours are very long. 19+/20 Oct 2016 Raymond Chan Wine Reviews Professionally stored in a temperature and humidity controlled environment Est. 90 - 110

226	(6) 2016 Te Mata Estate Awatea, Hawkes Bay (6) 2016 Te Mata Estate Awatea, Hawkes Bay RC18.0/20 Deepish ruby-red colour with a dark heart, lighter on the rim. The nose is elegant and a little slender in presentation with piquant and fragrant aromatics showing dark-red berry and redcurrant fruit with entwined with subtle herbal notes, unfolding nuances of stalk and stem, with dark-red floral perfumes, and a suggestion of minerals. Herb and plum notes emerge in the glass. Medium-bodied, the palate is elegant and taut with fine concentration of blackberry, blackcurrant and redcurrant fruit, along with hints of leaf and red florals. The fruit is up-front with some sweetness and underlined by fine-grained tannin extraction and fresh, edgy acidity. This has good linearity, and carries to a fragrant red-fruited finish. This will keep 6-8 years. Hand-picked fruit, a blend of 45% Cabernet Sauvignon, 41% Merlot and 14% Cabernet Franc, fermented to 13.5% alc., the wine aged 16 months in 35% new French oak barrels. 227	(3) 2014 Te Mata Estate Awatea, Hawkes Bay (3) 2014 Te Mata Estate Awatea, Hawkes Bay RC19/20 Very dark, deep, black-purple colour, a little lighter on the rim, and youthful in appearance. The nose is fresh and refined with dark red florals entwined with black and red currants and fresh, dark herbs. The aromatics are beautifully pure and grow in depth and penetration in the glass. Medium full bodied, the palate is tightly concentrated with a sleek, intense heart of bold blackcurrant and redcurrant fruit. This has lifted dark red-floral aromatics along with piquant fresh herbs and a hint of leafiness, but the fruit sweetness and richness unfolds, enlivened by crisp, refined, lacy acidity. The tannin extraction lends a fine-grained structure that allows the fruit fragrance and succulent vibrancy to prevail. The wine flows with excellent linearity to a very long, aromatic finish of dark red florals, herbs and cassis liqueur. This has elegance, freshness and balance, with an aromatic coolness that will see the wine develop 8-10 years easily. 45% Cabernet Sauvignon, 33% Merlot, 14% Cabernet Franc and 8% Petit Verdot, fermented to 13.5% alc., the wine aged 16 months in 25% new French oak. 19.0/20 Mar 2016 Raymond Chan Wine Reviews Professionally stored in a temperature and humidity controlled environment Est. 60 - 80
228	(6) 2020 Te Mata Estate Coleraine, Hawkes Bay (6) 2020 Te Mata Estate Coleraine, Hawkes Bay Lustrous crimson. Floral nose and sweet palate entry. Lots of tannin and very firm. The sort of wine that tells you to go away and wait. Tannins are a bit tougher than the average red bordeaux nowadays and the finish is currently a bit inky. 232	(4) 2016 Te Mata Estate Coleraine, Hawkes Bay (4) 2016 Te Mata Estate Coleraine, Hawkes Bay RP94 Another in a succession of terrific vintages, the 2016 Coleraine is a blend of 51% Cabernet Sauvignon, 47% Merlot and 2% Cabernet Franc, aged in 70% new French oak barrels. It's classic Bordeaux in style, outlining notes of tobacco, earth and cassis with cedar and baking spices. Of course, the fruit is more intense than in most Bordeaux wines, showing ample freshness to go along with richness and depth, while the medium to full-bodied palate is silky, framed by fine-grained tannins that give shape and length to the finish. 234	(4) 2014 Te Mata Estate Coleraine, Hawkes Bay (4) 2014 Te Mata Estate Coleraine, Hawkes Bay RP94 The medium-bodied 2014 Coleraine is a blend of 60% Cabernet Sauvignon, 28% Merlot and 12% Cabernet Franc. Svelte and streamlined, it's medium-bodied, with fabulous aromas of violets, dried herbs and cassis, with flavors to match, and it has a long finish lined with deceptively silky tannins. Although it's darn approachable now, it should drink well for two decades. Robert Parker.com Professionally stored in a temperature and humidity controlled environment Est. 130 - 180
235	(6) 2013 Te Mata Estate Coleraine, Hawkes Bay (6) 2013 Te Mata Estate Coleraine, Hawkes Bay RC19.5/20 Dark, deep ruby-red colour, youthful in appearance. The nose is very full and concentrated with softly packed, vibrant and ripe blackcurrant and cassis aromas, along with dark raspberry notes, all harmoniously interwoven. The black and red fruits are very deep and exude a voluptuous richness. Raymond Chan wine Reviews Professionally stored in a temperature and humidity controlled environmentOn palate, very rich and ripe, with vibrant mouthfeel and acid vitality lending a degree of elegance and finesse. The blackcurrant fruit shows with cassis, slight herb notes, currants and oak. This is supple, growing in plumpness and plumpness as it flows, but there is serious extraction underlining the fruit. Beautifully rich and with a rounded opulence. This will keep 15+ years. 54% CS, 36% Me, 10% CF. 14.0% alc. 19.5/20 Aug 2017 RC Est. 150 - 220
236	(3) 2011 Te Mata Estate Coleraine, Hawkes Bay (3) 2011 Te Mata Estate Coleraine, Hawkes Bay RC18.5+/20 Very dark, deep, black-red colour. The bouquet is densely packed with aromas of blackcurrants and dark herbs with ripe plum and earthy notes, quite classical Cabernet Sauvignon and Merlot varietal characters showing. Medium-full bodied, ripe blackcurrant fruit and dark plum flavours are lifted by spicy oak notes. Some cedar emerges. This has richness and density of texture with full, but fine-grained tannins. Raymond Chan Wine Reviews Professionally stored in a temperature and humidity controlled environmentThe flavours have a restrained, providing a balanced and elegant expression, but the weight and extract build in intensity and drive. Excellent acidity is present, adding to the palate line and energy, and the finish is concentrated, sweet and sustained.This is a well-ripened Cabernet Sauvignon-based wine with classical black fruits, good oak and fresh acidity, framed by significant structure. Its texture will see it age a decade easily.A blend of 72% Cabernet Sauvignon, 22% Merlot and 6% Cabernet Franc, fermented to 13.0% alc., the wine aged 18 months in predominantly new French oak. 18.5+/20 Mar 2013 RC Est. 120 - 160

246	(1) 2019 Te Mata Estate Coleraine, Hawkes Bay (1) 2019 Te Mata Estate Coleraine, Hawkes Bay RP92 The highest percentage of Cabernet Franc in Coleraine at 36%. A dark garnet core with youthful rim. The leafy nose is very tight but with great delineation, blackberry, black tea, tar and leather – very intense and exuberant. The palate is medium-bodied, supremely well balanced with superb acidity, a natural elegance and charm. Tobacco, damson, boysenberry with a touch of graphite with great tension on the off-dry finish. This is a top-notch Coleraine with a great future. Tasted May 2008. Robert Parker.com Professionally stored in a temperature and humidity controlled environment Est. 120 - 160
247	(6) 2008 Te Whau The Point, Waiheke (6) 2008 Te Whau The Point, Waiheke RC18.5/20 Full, even near impenetrable black-red colour, a little lighter on the edge with some garnet hues. The bouquet has powerful and concentrated aromas of fresh blackcurrants and cassis with fresh and dark herbs, along with distinctive mint elements, unfolding nuances of black plums and subtle, cedary oak. This is quite primary and refreshing and shows strong Cabernet Sauvignon fruit with a cool edge. Medium-full bodied, the palate has powerful and intense flavours of blackcurrants, cassis liqueur and up-front fresh mint herbs with a touch of menthol. The fruit intensity is striking and forms a concentrated core. The fruit is underlined by plenty of fine-grained structure and grip, and the mouthfeel is enlivened by fresh acidity. This has excellent linearity, and the wine carries to a very long, lingering finish. This is a powerful and intensely concentrated Cabernet/Merlot blend with bold blackcurrant, cassis and herbal flavours with plenty of fine structure and fresh acidity. 18.5+/20 May 2018 Raymond Chan Wine Reviews Professionally stored in a temperature and humidity controlled environment Est. 80 - 100
248	(2) 2013 Villa Maria Ngakirikiri Cabernet Sauvignon, Gimblett Gravels (2) 2013 Villa Maria Ngakirikiri Cabernet Sauvignon, Gimblett Gravels RC20/20 Full, even, black-hued ruby-red colour, near impenetrable. The nose is finely proportion with very firm and intensely packed and dense aromas of ripe blackcurrants along with nuances of blackberry and suggestions of plums. The oaking is very sensitive and integrated, providing the most subtle lift, and the bouquet unfolds a very refined layering of iron-earth and black minerals. This is expressive of pure black fruits and minerality. Medium-full bodied, the palate is wonderfully concentrated and rich, yet stylish is in restraint, showing pure, layered flavours of blackcurrants, cassis and black-berried fruits harmoniously interwoven with iron-earth and black minerals. The fruit is vibrant and possesses vitality, but exudes a drying restraint. The structure is serious and sophisticated with very fine-grained powdery tannin extraction, balanced by a very fine acid line. The wine has great drive, power, intensity and finesse. This is a wine of sheer elegance and finesse with rich, restrained fruit and the minerality of the Gimblett Gravels. It will live 20 years. A blend of 97% Cabernet Sauvignon and 3% Merlot. 249	(2) 2015 Esk Valley The Terraces, Hawkes Bay (2) 2015 Esk Valley The Terraces, Hawkes Bay RC19.5/20 Black-red with a very dark, near impenetrable heart and purple hues on the edge. The nose has great density and concentration, with size, presence and power, showing interwoven aromas of ripe blackberries, cassis, black plums, ink and plenty of oak shine with vanilla and lead pencils. Some boysenberry, plum and jam elements unfold in the glass. Extremely rich, ripe and plush, the sweetness of the fruit is the feature. Flavours of blackberries, blackcurrants, boysenberries with exotic spicy plums fill the mouth and are supported by considerable tannin extract, the texture very fine-grained, powdery and refined, with fresh, lacy acidity lending liveliness to the mouthfeel. The tannin extraction and structure grows and carries to a sweet, super-ripe plummy finish. This is a wine of ripeness and sweetness with great structure. A blend of approx. 40% Malbec, 35% Merlot and 25% Cabernet Franc from 'The Terraces' vineyard, the fruit hand-picked and co-fermented in concrete vat, the wine aged approx. 18 months in 100% new French oak barriques. 255	(3) 2014 Ata Rangi Pinot Noir, Martinborough (3) 2014 Ata Rangi Pinot Noir, Martinborough RC19.5/20 The Martinborough district was blessed with successive outstanding vintages in 2013 and 2014, and for that matter also in 2015 and 2016. The comparisons are being made now with the former pair being released. I love the smooth ripeness and richness of the 2014. Dark, deep ruby-red colour, but not too full. However on the nose very full with volume and layers of ripe dark-red berry fruits with suggestion of plums relieved by violet and red florals and hints of refreshing herbs. The richness, harmony and perfectly judge ripeness is the feature. Beautifully soft, lush and refined on palate, the richness is balanced by fine acid and very refined tannin extraction. The structure is serious though, unfolding to fill the mouth with the fruit. This is a plush and very complete in expression. The 2013 has an acid edginess which takes it just a little further, and I think the 2013 will live a little longer too. But that's nit-picking. 19.5/20 Oct 2016 Raymond Chan wine Reviews Professionally stored in a temperature and humidity controlled environment Est. 100 - 140
256	(3) 2013 Ata Rangi Pinot Noir, Martinborough (3) 2013 Ata Rangi Pinot Noir, Martinborough RC19.5/20 Dark ruby-red. Beautifully ripened dark red berry fruits and subtle, interwoven and harmonious complexing detail. Density, depth, brooding somewhat, with clear potential. Rich and plush on palate, with concentration. Layers of flavour built in, and unfolding slowly to reveal complex detail. Yet integrated and complete. Beautifully structured, and in total balance, and a fine acid and tannin line. Very long and succulent. Complete and immensely pleasing. Abel, 5, Dijon and 10/5 clones, indigenous yeast ferment with 30% whole clusters, 11 months in 35% new French oak. 19.5/20 Oct 2015 Raymond Chan Wine Reviews Professionally stored in a temperature and humidity controlled environment Est. 100 - 140

Dark, deep, even, purple-hued ruby-red, very youthful in appearance. This is tightly bound and classically expressed with fine, primary dark red berry and cherry fruits, along with lifted aromatic floral perfumes, the nose beautifully pure. Very subtle nuances of spicy oak with suggestions of toast show the youth of the wine. Medium-bodied and elegantly concentrated, refined tannin extraction forms the core on palate with tightly bound, dark cherry fruit and violet and dark red floral perfumes providing a gentle sweetness and lusciousness. Fresh, bright, lacy acidity lends vitality and the wine carries to a graceful, lingering finish. This is a beautiful, elegant and balance wine with finesse and grace. A classical Ata Rangi wine. 261	(3) 2007 Ata Rangi Pinot Noir, Martinborough (3) 2007 Ata Rangi Pinot Noir, Martinborough RC19+/20 A very small vintage, poor flowering and frost-affected, similar to 2005, but even greater care was taken to sort out the shrivelled berries. Very dark, purple-hued ruby-red colour. This has a very finely intense and concentrated nose, combining refinement and density, with tightly held ripe black berry and cherry fruits, but lifted by aromatic floral fragrances. Beautifully concentrated on palate, with lusciously succulent black cherry fruit flavours, the flavours offer spice notes and an array of floral notes unfold in layers. The tannin extraction is fine-grained and integral with the deep fruit, and the palate has excellent harmony with its richness. Soft, discreet acidity contributes to the lift and sweetness, and the palate leads to a very long complete finish. This has been guided to finesse, and will keep 7-9 years. 19.0+/20 Jun 2014 Raymond Chan Wine Reviews Professionally stored in a temperature and humidity controlled environment Est. 100 - 140

Very dark, deep, purple-hued ruby-red colour. The nose is beautifully fragrant with tightly concentrated and bound aromas of dark red cherry and berry fruits, lifted with violet perfumes, the aromatics unfolding in fine and ethereal waves, revealing a ripe, warm core. Intricately sweet and opulent red fruit notes are underlined by very fine fragrant herb detail. An elegant wine in presentation and perfectly proportioned, the fruit sweetness and richness is superbly stylish, with vibrancy and vitality. The juiciness is balanced by very fine-grained tannins that provide refined linear drive and structure. Excellent acidity and cut lends the palate poise and tension, lifting the floral aromatics, and leads the flavours to a very long and sustained finish. The wine was aged 11 months in 30% new French and European oak barrels. Full, even, very dark purple-ruby red colour, youthful in appearance. This is full and voluminous with savoury dark red berry fruit, with notes of game, rich with complex interwoven elements, very Martinborough in expression. Medium-full bodied, this has attractively bright, rich and luscious fruit flavours of dark berry and cherry fruit with excellent acidity providing tension and drive. Some resinous oak nuances sit with savoury cooked fruits, game and florals. Very fine-textured tannins underline the palate and with the acidity carry through to a very long finish. This complex flavoured Pinot Noir has the tension and fine extraction to match duck, pork and veal dishes over the next 6-7+ years. 300 dozen made. 18.5-/20 Mar 2012 Raymond Chan Wine Reviews Professionally stored in a temperature and humidity controlled environment Est. 80 - 100

268	(3) 2018 Dry River Pinot Noir, Martinborough (3) 2018 Dry River Pinot Noir, Martinborough RP91 Dry River's 2018 Pinot Noir boasts scents of earth, cola and plum. It's plush and atypically soft on the medium-bodied palate—no doubt the product of a warm vintage—which makes it approachable now, yet it appears to have the concentration required to age gracefully for up to a decade. 269	(2) 2017 Dry River Pinot Noir, Martinborough (2) 2017 Dry River Pinot Noir, Martinborough RP93 The striking thing about Dry River's 2017 Pinot Noir is its rose-blossom perfume, which seems to persist even on the palate and through the lengthy finish. Yes, there are barely-ripe cherries, a silky, medium-bodied feel on the palate and subtle hints of mocha and spice, but the overwhelming impression is one of floral elegance. While some vintages of this wine need time in the cellar, this is immediately approachable, yet it should drink well for up to decade. 270	(2) 2016 Dry River Pinot Noir, Martinborough (2) 2016 Dry River Pinot Noir, Martinborough RC19+/20 Dark, deep, black-hearted ruby-red colour. This has a firm and intense nose with aromas of ripe black cherries with a complex amalgam of dark herbs, subtle whole cluster notes, black and violet florals and nuances of spices. Medium-full bodied, this has bright and vibrant black cherry and berry fruit with a complexing layer of spices, black olives and herb nuances. The fruit is rich and lush, and underlined by fine-grained powdery tannin extraction and fresh lacy acidity. As the wine flows, the florals blossom and savoury tapenade suggestions emerge. This is already showing complexity. This will develop well over the next 7-9 years. Fruit from the 'Dry River Estate', 'Lovat' and 'Craighall' sites, indigenous yeast fermented with 35% whole clusters to 12.5% alc., the wine aged 12 months in 15% new 300 L and 350 L hogsheads. 19.0+/20 Mar 2018 Raymond Chan Wine Reviews Professionally stored in a temperature and humidity controlled environment Est. 100 - 140
271	(2) 2015 Dry River Pinot Noir, Martinborough (2) 2015 Dry River Pinot Noir, Martinborough RC19.5/20 Dark ruby-red colour with good depth. The nose has well-ripened dark-red and black berried fruits with nuances of dark red plums, unfolding an array of dark-red floral perfumes, and hints of dark herbs. A mineral edge is apparent to balance the fruit richness. Lovely detailing. Medium-full bodied, the palate features rich, sweet and plush fruit flavours of dark-red berry fruit and black cherries, along with notes of plums and liquorice. Some dark herb and floral lift provides elegance. The mouthfeel shows very fine-grained tannin extraction and excellent acid freshness and tension. The wine flows along a velvety line, carrying to a long, sustained, sweet fruited, bright finish with acid freshness. This is richer and more complete since last tasting. Fruit from the 'Dry River Estate', 'Lovat' and 'Craighall' sites, fermented with 30% whole clusters to 13.0% alc., the wine aged 12 months in 15% new 300 L and 350 L hogsheads. 19.5-/20 Mar 2017 Raymond Chan Wine Reviews Professionally stored in a temperature and humidity controlled environment Est. 100 - 140
272	(2) 2014 Dry River Pinot Noir, Martinborough (2) 2014 Dry River Pinot Noir, Martinborough RP94 If pulling the cork on the 2014 Pinot Noir soon, be sure to decant it a bit in advance of serving to allow some tarry aromas to dissipate. Once past those, pretty black cherry, raspberry and spice notes emerge, along with a simply gorgeous, plump, silky texture. It's expansive in the mouth without being weighty, while those tannins gain strength on the finish, suggesting at least a decade more of aging potential. 273	(2) 2013 Dry River Pinot Noir, Martinborough (2) 2013 Dry River Pinot Noir, Martinborough RC19+/20 Dark, deep ruby-red colour with purple hues, a little lighter on rim. The nose is very fine and elegantly concentrated with deep and intense aromas of ripe black and dark-red berry and cherry fruits, along with spices and violet florals, and subtle herb complexities. This is very refined in expression, and shows lovely depth. Medium-bodied, richly concentrated and with lively, bright, vibrant and youthful primary fruit flavours, this shows dark red berry fruit with raspberry liqueur, black cherries spices herbs and subtle savoury stalk suggestions. The fruit is supported by very fine-grained tannin structure, tightly bound and the mouthfeel enlivened by fresh acidity. The tannins carry the flavours on the very long finish. This is extremely tight and concentrated, with great linearity of primary flavours. 19.0+/20 Sep 2015 Raymond Chan Professionally stored in a temperature and humidity controlled environment Est. 100 - 140
274	(1) 2012 Dry River Pinot Noir, Martinborough (1) 2012 Dry River Pinot Noir, Martinborough RC18.5/20 Very dark, deep, black-hued purple-red colour, lighter on rim. The bouquet is very fresh and youthfully aromatic with lifted primary fruits of raspberries, dark cherries and red plums, along with whole berry fermentation notes of dark red florals and confectionary. Medium-bodied, plush and juicy primary fruit flavours of dark raspberries and cherries show with lifted confectionary elements. The mouthfeel is fresh and lively with lacy acidity enlivening the fruit. Supple, fine-grained tannins underline the palate, and the wine flows with energy and vitality. The acidity carries the sweet, vibrant fruit to an elegant and sustained finish. This is an elegant, juicy, aromatic Pinot Noir with fine, supple tannins and bright acidity. 18.5/20 Apr 2014 Raymond Chan Wine Reviews Professionally stored in a temperature and humidity controlled environment Est. 100 - 140

275	(2) 2011 Dry River Pinot Noir, Martinborough (2) 2011 Dry River Pinot Noir, Martinborough RC18.5/20 Very dark, deep ruby-red with a dark heart, a little lighter on the rim. This has a full, open nose of dark red berry fruit, quite fulsome, rounded and voluminous. Soft layers of plum and subtle herb detail, showing balance and integration, already coming together. Medium-full bodied, full, round and more up-front, with sweet, dark red berry fruits lifted with florals, a little plum, the textures softening, but still with plenty of fruit weight and extract, plenty of structure and grip too. The acidity soft, and the flavours and mouthfeel recede a little on the finish. Ripe, rich, upfront, and with layers of herb and savoury detail, and now very accessible. 18.5+/20 Sep 2015 Raymond Chan wine Reviews Professionally stored in a temperature and humidity controlled environment Est. 100 - 140
276	(2) 2010 Dry River Pinot Noir, Martinborough (2) 2010 Dry River Pinot Noir, Martinborough RC19/20 Very dark, deep, purple-hued ruby-red colour, youthful in appearance. The bouquet is softly full with fine, ethereal, lifted dark violetly perfumes and dark berry fruit aromas along with very subtle herb elements. The ripeness of the fruit for the cool growing season is excellent and the aromatics have beauty. Some oak spices unfold in the glass, adding to the whole berry scents. Medium-bodied and elegant, this has beautifully lush and ripe dark berry and cherry flavours lifted with florals, herbs and oak. This has concentration and proportion, and the tannins are very fine-grained and provide a firm line. The palate has good acid tension and a raciness that offers balance, leading to a long, sustained, sweet fruited and floral finish. 19.0/20 Feb 2012 Raymond Chan Wine Reviews Professionally stored in a temperature and humidity controlled environment Est. 100 - 140

This has a concentrated and densely packed nose, powerful and deep with ripe dark red berry fruits complexed by savoury whole bunch aromas and underlying dark red floral, unfolding a little smoke and charr interest. Fullish bodied, concentrated black fruits with layers of violets, char, savoury dark herbs form a full-flavoured, mouthfilling, rich and near luscious palate. Firm tannin extraction supports the fruit with good acidity provide linearity and drive, and the textures match the fruit boldness. This is a rich, complex and structured wine with strong whole cluster influence. 6-8+ years. 19+/20 Aug 2013 Raymond Chan Wine Reviews Professionally stored in a temperature and humidity controlled environment Est. 90 - 120
281	(4) 2009 Escarpment Kupe Pinot Noir, Martinborough (4) 2009 Escarpment Kupe Pinot Noir, Martinborough RC19.5/20 Purple-red colour with a lighter edge, this is very tightly bound and elegantly expressed on bouquet with dark red berry fruits, fine perfumed aromatics and complexing earthy beetroot, mineral and steel notes. Sweet, spicy oak elements add to the ethereal nature here. There is finesse and elegance to the red and black berry fruit flavours on the palate. Wonderful floral nuances and distinctive savoury complexities are framed within an exceptionally refined, satin-textured tannic structure. The wine is fresh and has youthful tension by way of the excellent acidity. The finish is long and lingering. The wine displays a combination of refinement and complexity that should enable it to develop extremely well over the next 7-10+ years, showing class all the way. 19.5/20 Feb 2011 Raymond Chan Wine Reviews Professionally stored in a temperature and humidity controlled environment Est. 90 - 120

283	(1) 2010 Escarpment Te Rehua Pinot Noir, Martinborough (1) 2010 Escarpment Te Rehua Pinot Noir, Martinborough RC19.5/20 Very dark, deep, purple-black red colour, this is not quite impenetrable. The nose is powerful with ripe, dark berry fruits, violetly florals and notes of dried herbs, the nose with excellent depth, density and concentration. On palate a most fulsome wine, sweet and ripe with lush dark berry fruits, and an aromatic edge. The succulence of the fruit is a feature, and this is supported by perfectly balanced, supple tannins and freshness from fine acidity. Oaking is very sensitive and just adds shine to the fruitiness. A complete, fruit-expressive wine of lovely harmony. I saw this as the 'Kiwa' wine in the blind tasting and rated it as my 1st preference of the 5 wines tasted. 19.5/20 Jan 2012 Raymond Chan Wine Reviews Professionally stored in a temperature and humidity controlled environment Est. 90 - 120

288	(2) 2016 Novum Pinot Noir, Marlborough (2) 2016 Novum Pinot Noir, Marlborough RC19-/20 Dark, moderately deep, ruby-red colour with slight purple hues, a little lighter on the rim. The nose is softly full and gently voluminous with aromas of dark-red berry fruit along with a complex amalgam of red florals, dried herbs and subtle complexing earthy nuances. The aromatics form a fine, tight core that grows in intensity with aeration. Medium-bodied, the palate is elegant in presentation with a soft, refined core of ripe dark-red and black berried fruits unfolding nuances of dark-red florals and suggestions of herbs that fill the mouth. The flavours are rich, soft but vibrant, possessing energy and vitality. The fruit is supported by fine-grained flowery tannin extraction that provides considerable structure. The acidity is balanced and the wine carries to a soft, lingering, nuanced finish. This is a gently mouthfilling and layered Pinot Noir with dark-red berry fruit, florals and herbs, on a fine core with plenty of structure. Match with duck and pork, and roasted beef, lamb and venison over the next 6-8 years. Pinot Noir fruit from the 'Yarrum' and a lower Brancott vineyard along with Omaka fruit and a small portion of fruit from the 'Churton' site, Waihopai, fully destemmed and indigenous yeast fermented to 13.0% alc., the wine spending 35 days on skins and aged 12-14 months in 30% new oak. 19.0-/20 May 2018 Raymond Chan wine Reviews Professionally stored in a temperature and humidity controlled environment Est. 46 - 55

319	(1) 2007 Jim Barry The Armagh Shiraz, Clare SA (1) 2007 Jim Barry The Armagh Shiraz, Clare SA RP96+ Deep garnet-purple colored, the 2007 The Amargh Shiraz gives pronounced notes of warm blackberries and blueberries with nuances of earth, cumin seed, anise, black truffles, black olives and duck breast. Very full and voluptuous in the mouth, the richness is nicely supported by a high level of velvety tannins and lively acid, finishing long and layered. Delicious now, it should cellar to 2022+. Dec 2011 Robert Parker.com Professionally stored in a temperature and humidity controlled environment Est. 400 - 500
320	(3) 2010 John Duval Wines Plexus Shiraz/Grenache/Mourvedre, Barossa SA (3) 2010 John Duval Wines Plexus Shiraz/Grenache/Mourvedre, Barossa SA RP95 Medium to deep garnet in color, the 2010 Plexus is starting to morph into a meaty, savory nose with core of kirsch and blueberry preserves, plus potpourri and a touch of cranberry sauce. The palate has great structure, still—all rounded and plush—with maturing, savory fruit leading to a very long finish. Oct 2016 Robert Parker.com Professionally stored in a temperature and humidity controlled environment Est. 70 - 80
321	(2) 2012 Kosta Browne Pinot Noir Estate, Sonoma USA (2) 2012 Kosta Browne Pinot Noir Estate, Sonoma USA Professionally stored in a temperature and humidity controlled environment Est. 240 - 300
322	(6) 2010 Chateau Lagrange, Pomerol (6) 2010 Chateau Lagrange, Pomerol Professionally stored in a temperature and humidity controlled environment Est. 120 - 160
323	(6) 2010 Chateau Ormes de Pez, St Estephe (6) 2010 Chateau Ormes de Pez, St Estephe RP92 Deep garnet colored, the 2010 Ormes de Pez slips sensuously from the glass with seductive blackberry pie, Black Forest cake and kirsch scents plus nuances of candied violets, hoisin, dark chocolate and licorice. Full-bodied, rich and plush in the mouth, it has a fantastic line of freshness lifting all the decadent fruit to a long, energy-sparked finish. Mar 2020 Robert Parker.com Professionally stored in a temperature and humidity controlled environment Est. 80 - 100
324	(3) 2010 Hauts de Pontet-Canet, Pauillac (3) 2010 Hauts de Pontet-Canet, Pauillac JR17/20 One of the most expressive wines of the tasting – red fruited, seductive. Very fresh and beautifully balanced between that fresh red and black fruit and just the right firmness of tannins. Very long and harmonious. Jancis Robinson.com Professionally stored in a temperature and humidity controlled environment Est. 100 - 140
